The social bachelors who are to give the resherche ball at the Broom hotel to a feel on Feb. 7, met one night the past week and decided several matters of detail Miss connected with the preparations for the event. Among them was the se-lection of partners, and as this was decided by lot, some temporary alli-ances new to the social set may be looked for. Each bachejor, it is said, looked for. Each bachelor, it is said, contributed the names of several maids to a hat, and each drew one out. Of course, a girl whose name was put in by each bachelor stood a better chance of having her name drawn out, but the fickleness of dame fortune was never better illustrated, it is claimed, than on this occasion, and if some of Ogden's most prominent young ladies fail to be invited by some one of the eight bachelors giving the ball, the reason will likely be that chance was against her in the drawing. It is said that one young bachelor drew the name of a young lady whom he has never seen, but that he is beaud to take her to the ball, unless she refuses his comto the ball, unless she refuses his company. The invitations will be issued in a day or two. The young men giving the ball are: Henry Last, Squire Coop, J. L. Dickson, James Burton, John Cully, S. E. Corey, Will Williams, Reuben Farr.
